

Local business names.co.uk team up with Worcester College of Technology

ICT Department is transformed into New Centre of Digital Excellence

Worcester, UK - 08 July, 2013 - WORCESTER-based Internet Services Provider, names.co.uk, has entered into partnership with Worcester College of Technology under a new 'Support Local Education' initiative.

Through the scheme, names.co.uk has helped revamp and transform the ICT department's classroom and workshop facilities into the college's new Centre of Digital Excellence. Students can now benefit from top-of-the-range equipment including high-end Dell servers, server racks and switches.

Mark Wright, Curriculum Manager at Worcester College of Technology's Centre of Digital Excellence, said of the partnership, "We're very excited and students are already benefitting from the cutting edge hardware and resources they've provided for our brand new Computer Suites and Labs", he continued, "As a business at the forefront of technological development, names.co.uk are helping introduce us to the latest innovative advancements in areas such as graphic design, mobile app development, games programming, network solutions, cloud computing through to the latest cyber security developments."

With more than 100 employees based at their Worcester office at Perdiswell Park, names.co.uk are one of the largest technology companies in the county and are committed to working at a local level to support progress in the Information Technology sector.

Abhinav Mathur, Operational Marketing Manager at names.co.uk, said, "Many of our employees attended Worcester College of Technology in the past and this partnership really strengthens the link between us. The staff and students are so energised, we can't wait to get more involved and lend a hand wherever possible!" From September, staff from names.co.uk will be providing guest lectures at the college and they'll also be present at open days introducing potential future employees to the company.

Lecturer, James Duckhouse added, "It's fantastic, not only have names.co.uk supplied us with some great equipment, they're continuing to give us support that will keep us up to date with the latest developments in technology."
